
The feeling behind Remembered.

Be intentional. Send the text.

Remembered is an iPhone keep-in-touch app for everyday check-ins, birthdays, anniversaries and important dates. Choose your people, set a comfortable reminder rhythm, and use an editable draft when you want help finding the words. You review and send every message yourself.

The little hello counts.

A relationship is made of ordinary moments: the birthday remembered, the small update, the “this made me think of you.” Remembered helps turn that thought into a small action.

Make room for your people.

Life gets full. A gentle nudge makes space for the people you choose, at a pace that fits your life. The feeling is care and possibility, without guilt or a score to keep.

Keep the human part human.

A draft can help you begin. Your details make it personal. You decide what to say and when to send it. The app supports the gesture; the connection belongs to you.

The creator's job

Tell a story people recognize in their own lives. Let Remembered be one small, practical response. Your voice and your point of view carry the video.

Get to know the app.

Try these steps before describing your experience. You can explore a draft without sending anything.

1. Choose your people

Add someone manually or choose from Contacts. Start with up to three people free. A birthday is optional; everyday check-ins matter too.

2. Set a comfortable rhythm

Choose a check-in pace and reminder time. Enable notifications if you want nudges outside the app. Timing leaves room for birthdays and other important dates.

3. Bring in the dates that matter

Import saved birthdays and anniversaries from Contacts, look for dates in your calendars, or enter a date yourself. Imports depend on saved information and the access you grant.

4. Make the words your own

Open a check-in or occasion draft. Choose an available tone, edit the message and add a detail only you would know. The words are a starting point.

5. Reach out

With the draft and saved recipient ready, tap Open Messages in Remembered, then Send in Apple's composer. Setup or edits can add steps. Your recipient does not need Remembered.

6. Add a little something extra

For an occasion, preview a card and personalize it with a typed or drawn signature. Pro adds more designs and paper colors. Every exported card carries the Remembered seal.

The useful details.

Use this page to get familiar with the app and check an occasional claim. You do not need to recite these features in a video.

People & check-ins

Choose who to keep in touch with and set a pace for each person. Record “We connected” when you have already caught up.

Editable text drafts

Start with suggested wording, choose a tone and make it yours. Remembered prepares the message; you send it through Messages.

Free & Pro

Free includes three people, two card designs on Cream, and Classic and Warm tones. Pro expands people, tones, designs, papers and advance reminders. Check the current paywall for local prices.

Privacy & control

Contacts, calendars and drafts stay on the phone in the current app. Apple handles payments and RevenueCat supports purchase access and analytics. Nothing sends without your action.

Birthdays & important dates

Keep birthday, anniversary and other meaningful dates alongside everyday check-ins. Import saved dates or enter them manually.

Cards & personal touches

Preview 12 card designs across five papers, independently of the app’s paper theme. Add a typed or drawn signature. Premium choices require Pro.

Plans & family access

Pro offers monthly, annual and one-time Lifetime plans. Lifetime includes Family Sharing through Apple where available. Use the app’s current offer and eligibility details.

Where to find it

Brand: Remembered. App Store listing: You Remembered. Made for iPhone on iOS 17 or later. There is no Remembered account to create.

Bring your point of view.

Sounds like us

Warm, specific, lightly funny, personal. Speak to one person. Notice a familiar habit. Let a small, true detail do the work.

The creator brings

Your opening, point of view, delivery and truthful experience. Adapt or replace every suggested script. A single talking-head take can be the entire video.

The app contributes

One brief, useful response to the situation you raised: a nudge to reach out or remember a date. Come straight back to your point or callback.

Your first take

1. Try Remembered on your iPhone. Add a person with permission, or enter a fictional demo person if you plan to record the screen.
2. Set a reminder rhythm, open an editable draft, and see where your own words would fit. Explore birthdays or cards if that is relevant to your angle.
3. Find one true observation from your life. Write three first lines, choose your favorite, then film the story in your natural voice.
4. Use one accurate app sentence. Only describe first-person app use you have actually had. Review the posting notes and live campaign terms before publishing.

Every script is suggested — adapt freely.

The wording and sequence are optional. Write your own hook and use truthful details. Beat labels are reading aids, not spoken lines or required on-screen text.

Aim for a conversational 30–45 seconds. Optional app footage and graphics are in the kit. Review Posting-Notes.md and the live ContentRewards campaign for disclosure, submission steps, rates, rights and deadlines.
